1 1. Plaintiffs’ EAJA Motion Satisfies the requirements of 28 U.S.C.
2 2412(d)(1)(B)

3 Within thirty days of final judgment in this action, Plaintiffs did “submit to 4 the court” an application for fees and expenses as required by 28 U.S.C. §
5 2412(d)(1)(B), and their application met all the requirements of that section.

7 Consistent with 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(1)(B), Plaintiffs’ Motion for Attorneys’
8 Fees and Costs (“Motion”) [Doc. # 545] showed that Plaintiffs “prevailed and 9 accordingly satisfy the first requirement for an EAJA fee award,” (Motion at 2-3);
10 Plaintiffs’ net worth is far less than $2,000,000 (id., at 3-4); Defendants’ position
11 lacked substantial justification (id. at 5-9); class counsel possess distinctive 12 knowledge and specialized skill that was needful to the litigation in question and 13 not available elsewhere at the statutory rate (id. at 10-12), that “no special 14 circumstances make a fee award unjust,” (id. at 7), and includes declarations stating 15 the hours counsel devoted to prosecuting this action in itemized time records. Id. at 16 10.

18 The Government nevertheless argues “[t]he Motion should be denied because 19 plaintiffs did not file their EAJA motion within the [30 day] statutory time frame.”
20 Defendant’s Opposition to Plaintiffs’ Amended Motion for Award of Attorneys’
21 Fees at 5 (“Opposition”) [Dkt. # 597]. Defendants simply ignore Plaintiffs’ initial 22 Motion for an award of attorneys’ fees [Doc. # 545] as if it was never submitted or 23 filed. As this Court recited in its In Chambers - Order Denying Without Prejudice
24 25
26
27
28

1 Plaintiffs’ Motion for Award of Attorneys’ Fees (“May 2019 Order”) [Doc. # 546]:

2 On May 28, 2019, Plaintiffs “filed” a Motion for Award of Attorneys’ Fees. Id.

4 Defendants do not dispute that the motion filed on May 28, 2019, was timely filed.

5 Because the Motion did not contain a statement required by Local Rule 7-3 6 indicating that counsel conferred at least seven days prior to the filing of the 7 motion, C.D. Cal. L.R. 7-3, the Court denied the motion “without prejudice to 8 refiling after compliance” with the Local Rule. May 2019 Order at 1.

10 Consistent with the Court’s Order, the parties promptly met and conferred,
11 Defendants stated they opposed the motion, and Plaintiffs’ filed an Amended
12 Motion noting that the parties had met and conferred in compliance with C.D. Cal.
13 L.R. 7-3. Amended Notice of Motion and Motion for Award of Attorneys’ Fees
14 (“Amended Motion”) at 1. [Doc. # 550].
15

17 28 U.S.C. § 2412(d)(1)(B) requires that within thirty days of final judgment,
18 a party seeking EAJA fees “submit to the court” an application for fees. Plaintiffs 19 “submit” an application for fees by filing their application with the Court. Having 20 done so, they complied with the terms of § 2412(d)(1)(B). Plaintiffs timely 21 “submit[ted]” the motion to the Court. Neither logic nor the wording of § 22 2412(d)(1)(B) suggest that a timely submitted motion later denied with leave to 23 refile, should be treated as a motion that was never submitted.

26 The starting point in statutory construction is to look at the plain meaning of 27 the statute as courts must “presume that a legislature says in a statute what it means
28

1 and means in a statute what it says ..." Conn. Nat'l Bank v. Germain, 503 U.S. 249,
2 253-54 (1992). Words generally should be "interpreted as taking their ordinary,
3 contemporary, common meaning ..." Wis. Cent. Ltd. v. United States, 138 U.S.
4 2067, 2074 (2018) (citing Perrin v. United States, 444 U.S. 37, 42 (1979)). "[T]he
5 ordinary and obvious meaning of a phrase in a statute is not to be lightly
6 discounted." INS v. Cardoza-Fonesca, 480 U.S. 421, 431 (1987).

9 According to Black's Law Dictionary "submit" – the term used in §
10 2412(d)(1)(B) – means "to place it before a tribunal for determination."¹
11 Webster's Dictionary defines submit as "to present or propose to another for 12 review, consideration, or decision."² In accordance with the ordinary,
13 contemporary, and common meaning of the term "submit," Plaintiffs submitted–
14 and indeed, filed–their EAJA motion within thirty days of final judgment.³

17 II. Defendants' Pre-Litigation and Litigation Positions Were Not 18 Substantially Justified

25 ³ Defendants argue that "[w]hile equitable tolling might apply in certain 26 circumstances to excuse a party from filing outside the 30-day deadline, the Court's 27 discretion to apply equitable tolling is limited to a case by case basis, and should be 28 used sparingly." Opposition at 6:22-25. However, in this case there is no need for the Court to equitably toll the EAJA 30-day deadline because Plaintiffs' met that deadline by timely "submit[ting]" a motion that met all of the requirements of § 2412(d)(1)(B).

1 To win a “substantial justification” defense against an award of EAJA fees, the 2 Government must show both that “the government was substantially justified in 3 taking its original action; and second, ... the government was substantially justified
4 in defending the validity of the action in court.” Kali v. Bowen, 854 F.2d 329, 332
5 (9th Cir. 1988).⁴ “The government bears the burden of demonstrating substantial
6 justification.” Gonzales v. Free Speech Coal., 408 F.3d 613, 618 (9th Cir. 2005).

9 Defendants argue that they “were substantially justified in bringing their 10 motion because they were required to do so by Executive Order, and recent 11 injunctions had raised special circumstances of particularly novel and complex
12 issues in this matter.” Opposition at 8.
13

14 The issuance of a preliminary injunction in Ms. L. v. United States
15 Immigration & Customs Enf’t (“ICE”), 310 F. Supp. 3d 1133 (S.D. Cal. 2018), 16 regarding the separation of children from their parents had nothing to do with the 17 terms of the Flores Settlement, and presented no “novel and complex challenges to 18 the government with regard to the issue of keeping families together in family
19 residential centers.” Opposition at 9. Defendants never even bother to explain what 20 they mean by “novel and complex challenges” they faced operating family
21
22
23
24
25

26 ⁴ “The test for whether the government is substantially justified is one of 27 ‘reasonableness.’” Hensley v. Eckerhart, 461 U.S. 424, 433 (1983). see also Pierce 28 v. Underwood, 487 U.S. 552, 566 n.2 (position can be substantially justified “even though it is not correct . . . if it has a reasonable basis in law and fact”).

1 detention centers in a manner consistent with the Flores Settlement because of the 2 Ms. L. preliminary injunction.

4 Nor can Defendants show their position was substantially justified “because
5 they were required to [file their Ex Parte Application] by the Executive Order [No.
6 13841].” Opposition at 8.⁵ The Executive Order instructed the Attorney General to
8 “promptly file a request with the U.S. District Court for the Central District of 9 California to modify the Settlement Agreement in Flores ... in a manner that would 10 permit the Secretary ... to detain alien families together throughout the pendency of 11 criminal proceedings for improper entry or any removal or other immigration
12 proceedings.” Id. at § 3(e).

14 The fact that President Trump directed the Attorney General to seek 15 termination of the Settlement’s protections afforded accompanied children so they 16 could be detained indefinitely in unlicensed facilities until their or their parents’
17 criminal or removal proceedings were completed does not in any way mean
18 Defendants’ pre-litigation and litigation positions were substantially justified.
19
20 Without a new good-faith basis for seeking to terminate the Settlement for 21 accompanied children, excluding grounds previously rejected by this Court and the 22
23
24
25
26

27 ⁵ See Affording Congress an Opportunity to Address Family Separation, Exec.
28 Order No. 13841, 83 Fed. Reg. 29435, 29435 (June 20, 2018) [hereinafter Exec.
Order No. 13841].

1 Court of Appeals, there was no justification for the President to issue Paragraph
2 3(e) of the Executive Order, or for Defendants to act on it.

4 As this Court held, Defendants' Ex Parte Application was "a thinly veiled 5 motion for reconsideration without any meaningful effort to comply with the 6 requirements of Local Rule 7-18." Order Denying Defendants' Ex Parte
7 Application for Limited Relief from Settlement Agreement ("July 2018 Order")
8 [Dkt. # 455].

10 Three years earlier, on July 24, 2015, the Court had denied Defendants'
11 motion seeking to modify the Flores Agreement "on the same grounds now raised
12 anew in Defendants' Ex Parte Application." July 2018 Order at 2, citing Defs.'
13 Motion to Amend at 13, 17–21, 27–28, 30–33 [Doc. # 120]; July 24, 2015 Order at 14 19–25 [Doc. # 177]; Ex Parte Appl. at 15–16 [Doc. # 435-1] (repeating Defendants'
15 position that detaining family units in unlicensed family residential facilities deters 16 others from unlawfully entering the country).
17

20 The Court's July 24, 2017 Order "analyzed in great detail the relevant Flores
21 Agreement language and applicable legal authorities, responding to the same issues
22 raised in Defendants' current Ex Parte Application." July 2018 Order at 2. Because 23 Defendants' Ex Parte Application failed to show "changed circumstances that the 24 parties could not have foreseen at the time of the Agreement," the Court found it
25 "unnecessary to replot the same familiar territory." Id.
26
27
28

1 Defendants' Ex Parte Application rested on the premise that the July 24,
2 2015 Order resulted in a "3 to 5-fold increase in the number of illegal family border
3 crossings" because it led arriving families to believe that Defendants would rather 4 release them than separate the children from their families. See, e.g., Ex Parte Appl.
5 at 3 [Doc. # 435-1]. As it did before, the Court found "Defendants' logic 'dubious'
6 and unconvincing." July 2018 Order at 3, quoting July 24, 2015 Order at 11 [Doc. #
7 177].

10 Additionally, the relief Defendants sought was "improper because their 11 proposed modifications [were] not 'suitably tailored to the changed
12 circumstance[,] if any.'" July 2018 Order at 3, quoting Rufo v. Inmates of Suffolk 13 Cty. Jail, 502 U.S. 367, 391 (1992). Instead, Defendants sought "to light a match to 14 the Flores Agreement and ask[ed] this Court to upend the parties' agreement by 15 judicial fiat." Id.

18 In 2015, the Court found that the Flores Agreement could, depending on the 19 facts in an individual case, accommodate Defendants' request for a 20-day deadline
20 during an influx. July 2018 Order at 3-4. Yet, Defendants' Ex Parte Application 21 sought "to hold minors in indefinite detention in unlicensed facilities, which would 22 constitute a fundamental and material breach of the parties' Agreement." Id. at 4

24
25 Defendants' third effort to terminate the Settlement for accompanied children 26 did not "advance[e] in good faith ... novel but credible extensions and 27 interpretations of the law ..." H.R. Rep. No. 96-1418, at 11 (1980), reprinted in 28

1 1980 U.S.C.C.A.N. 4984, 4990; S. Rep. No. 96-253, at 7 (1979). Instead,
2 Defendants’ Ex Parte Application by and large recycled and rehashed arguments
3 rejected twice by this Court and once by the Court of Appeals.

5 III. Reasonableness of fee request

6 The EAJA authorizes the Court to award attorney’s fees at market rates
7 where there is a “limited availability of qualified attorneys for the proceedings 8 involved,” or where plaintiffs’ counsel possess “distinctive knowledge” and 9 “specialized skill” that was “needful to the litigation in question” and “not available
10 elsewhere at the statutory rate.” Thangaraja v. Gonzales, 428 F.3d 870, 876 (9th
11 Cir. 2005); see also Pierce v. Underwood, 487 U.S. 552, 572, 108 S. Ct. 2541, 101 12 L.Ed.2d 490 (1988) (“Examples . . . would be an identifiable practice specialty such 13 as patent law, or knowledge of foreign law or language.”).
14
16

17 Defendants’ position that the fees requested by Plaintiffs are excessive has no
18 basis in law or fact. As their declarations show, class counsel and co-counsel
19 possess unique experience and skills that were essential to the successful opposition
20 to Defendants’ Ex Parte Application [Dkt. 550-1, Ex. 1-5.] The Court has 21 previously awarded an enhanced fee for the undersigned class counsel:
23

24 This case, however does not involve typical issues that arise routinely under 25 immigration law. Rather, Plaintiffs’ action involved a one-of-a-kind
26 settlement dating back to 1997 affecting a specific group of immigrants—
27 accompanied and unaccompanied minors detained at the border. Schey...
28

1 ha[s] intimate knowledge of the Agreement as [he and class counsel Carlos
2 Holguin] negotiated it on behalf of class members. In addition to litigating
3 the matter that led to the Agreement, ... Schey ... [has] been involved with 4 monitoring the government's compliance with the Agreement since its 5 inception.

8 Order Re Plaintiffs' Motion for Attorneys' Fees and Costs (November 14, 2017)
9 ("2017 EAJA Order") at 6. [Doc. # 383].

10 Few, if any, other lawyers in the country could or would have successfully
11 opposed Defendants' effort to terminate the Settlement for accompanied class
12 members at the inflation-adjusted EAJA rate. Market rates for lawyers with skills
13 and experience comparable to plaintiffs' Class Counsel are in the range of $975
14 hourly. See Declaration of Carol Sobel, Exhibit 5, ¶¶ 22-24 [Doc.# 550-1].

17 These factors warrant the Court's awarding class counsel fees at rates "in 18 line with those prevailing in the community for similar services by lawyers of 19 reasonably comparable skill, experience and reputation.'" Nadarajah v. Holder, 569
20 F.3d 906, 916 (9th Cir. 2009).
21

22 Defendants' comparison of class counsel's undisputed market hourly rate
23 with the Special Monitor's hourly rate does not change the EAJA statute or cases
24 addressing enhanced market rates permissible under EAJA. Opposition at 11. As a
25 service to the Court, the Special Monitor is obviously serving at far less than her
26 hourly market rate. She understood what the rate would be when she accepted her
27
28

1 appointment, and what her budget would be, subject to modification by the Court.
2 To be compensated, she is not required to show that she remedied a violation and
3 the Government was not substantially justified in taking whatever position it took.
4 Nor does she have to show that she possessed distinctive knowledge and
5 specialized skill that was needful to resolve the violation she helped cure. Nothing
6 in the EAJA statute or the precedent cases this Court is familiar with and has 7 previously cited in this case [Doc. # 383] suggests that an attorney fee award should 8 somehow be pegged or linked to a court-appointed monitor's compensation in the 9 same case.⁶

13 IV. Conclusion

14 Plaintiffs satisfy all requirements for an award of EAJA fees and costs; the 15 Court should accordingly grant the instant Motion and award fees and costs as 16 requested by Plaintiffs.

18 Dated: September 27, 2019.
